

Walking, Cycling and Horse-Riding Assessment & Review

The logo for TMS (Transport Management Solutions) is a green circle with the letters 'TMS' in white, positioned in the top right corner of the page.

Course Overview

A one-day training course aimed at local authority officers, highway scheme designers and other practitioners who are likely to be involved in the assessment of walking, cycling and horse-riding facilities and the review of design proposals relating to those facilities in the context of development schemes. The course examines current national policies, the requirements of the DMRB Standard and the practical application of that Standard.

Aims and Objectives

To introduce the current national guidance on assessing provisions for walking, cycling and horse-riding during the development of new schemes and to consider design issues for pedestrians, cyclists and horse-riders, including people with a physical, sensory or mental impairment.

Please note that solely completing this course will not meet the requirements of a WCHAR Lead Assessor which are outlined fully within GG 142.

Topics Covered

The one-day course focuses on the following key areas:

- Walking and cycling policies and strategies
- GG 142 - Walking, cycling and horse-riding assessment and review
- Pedestrian facilities
- Pedestrian routes
- Facilities for disabled users
- Cycling facilities
- Facilities for horse-riders
- Walking, cycling & horse-riding assessment

Certification

Delegates completing this course will receive a CPD certificate of attendance, recognised by both the IHE and CIHT.
